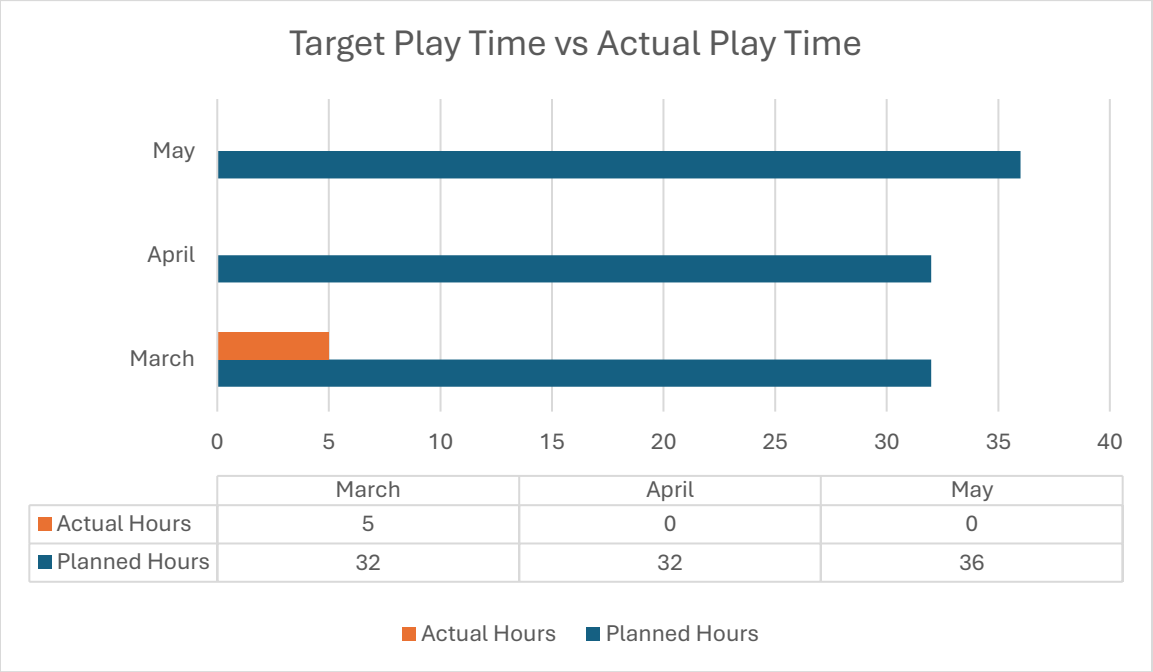
Project Description: This project was started to help myself complete the game OCTOPATH TRAVELER II with 100 percent completion rate* within 3 months from when I started. The game offers 100 hours of total play time, and these progress reports will be made every 5 hours played to document current progression rate and report on any issues faced.

* 100 percent completion rate for any video game is the act of achieving everything possible within that game apart from just completing the main story quests. This may include completing every side quest, collecting all collectibles, maxing out all character's levels and stats, and achieving all secret scenes.

Progress to Date: It has been 25 days since I started this game, and I have only played for 5 hours. Based on the time allotted for play and the total play time offered, I am behind by 27 hours. As for the completion rating, I have received 5 of 33 achievements available in the game.



| | March | April | May |

| Planned Hours | 32 | 32 | 36 |

Progress Remaining: The missed play time hours in March will be divided and put into the months of April and May. This will change the play times of April and May to 45 hours and 50 hours respectively. 12 achievements will need to be completed in April and 16 in May.

Revised Target Play Time and Target Achievements:

| Month | Play Time | Achievements |
|---|---|---|
| April | 45 | 12 |
| May | 50 | 16 |

Evaluation of Progress: The month of March saw little play time, therefore moving hours and achievement goals to the months of April and May. March was filled with midterms and personal tasks that hindered the amount of time allotted for playing the game.

Conclusion: The working solution is to play at least 12 hours of the game per week to keep up with goals, otherwise adding more summer months to the timeline will work too because there is no rush in completing this game.
